Risk Warning

Before deciding to participate in the Forex market, you should carefully consider your investment objectives, level of experience and risks. Most importantly, do not invest money you cannot afford to lose.

There is considerable exposure to risk in any off-exchange foreign exchange transaction, including, but not limited to, leverage, creditworthiness, limited regulatory protection and market volatility that may substantially affect the price, or liquidity of a currency or currency pair.

Furthermore, because forex trading is leveraged, any changes in the market will impact your deposited cash proportionally. Both for and against you could result from this. You run the risk of losing your entire original margin investment and having to make more deposits to keep your position open. Your trade might be liquidated and you'd be responsible for any ensuing losses if you don't fulfill any margin requirements.

There are risks associated with utilizing an Internet-based trading system including, but not limited to, the failure of hardware, software, and Internet connection. APX Capita is not responsible for communication failures or delays when trading via the Internet. APX Capita employs backup systems and contingency plans to minimize the possibility of system failure, and trading via telephone is always available.
